WARMING UP.

Not only the weather but the political fight in Virginia has been warming up and the fighters have excited our sympathies. The Senatorial "heavy weight" met for the first time in the ring at King George Courthouse and for three hours entertained a large crowd packed together in a small courtroom.

Neither of the speakers gave birth to a new thought or made a novel suggestion and yet as they repeated the every day points of the respective oratory grew wild with delight, hot in the collar and shouted lustily. It is pretty generally conceded that Senator Martin comes out of the contest with flying colors. The Senator has never laid claim to being an orator but what he knows he can tell in plain speech and most impressively. There is widespread and restless desire to hear him again and Richmond demands the next entertainment. It is rather funny that men will suffer in crowded rooms at this season of the year to see two men who are so often seen in the walks of every day life and to listen to things as familiar as household words. This isn't peculiar to 1905, however, for our fathers did it.

Judge Mann has been invading the "enemy's territory," as he was pleased to term it, but he seems to have borne himself so bravely and ably while there that he made friends of enemies.

Mr. Willard has been pursuing the even tenor of his way making friends and winning votes. Mr. Swanson is still fired with that laudable ambition which was born in him as boy and has been stirring his audiences by his enthusiasm and eloquence. Perhaps his most signal triumph of the recent past was won on Chincoteague Island when he moved the natives as they are sometimes moved by storm of old ocean.

Hon. J. Ashton Cabell, who still wishes to be Lieutenant Governor, has been active on the stump of late and being a good-looking man he too makes favorable impression wherever he goes. He, of course, doesn't hope to win but it is pleasant to meet with Virginia people and it is a good way to spend at least a portion of the summer. Judge Williams bids up now and then but he bids down again, and the great body of voters forget that he is a candidate.

Front Royal gave the governor one of his warmest welcomes and he in turn seems to have made in that place one of his best speeches.

Notwithstanding the fact that potatoes have been selling at minimum prices the people of the eastern shore turned out in large numbers to greet Senator Martin during his recent visit and now his friends are claiming the vote of that section for him.

Gov. Montague has challenged Senator Martin for another joint discussion and the "bottle royal" is to take place in Manchester Saturday night. That means a Richmond-Manchester audience and a "hot time in the old town for that night."

The Republicans of Virginia will meet in State Convention in the city of Roanoke, to put in the field a full State ticket to be voted for at the coming election in November. We hope they "mean business" and that they will make an earnest fight. The Democrats can win in a walkover, but we want a little fun injected into the canvass. The fact is a strong minority party is useful. All of us need some watching. Farmville Herald.

It may be the Democrats will beat us easily in the election in November, and we are not at present prepared to say they will not, but in view of the fact that every prominent Democrat in the State admits that the results of our elections have been just what the Democratic managers have directed the election officers to return, we do not understand how the editor of the Herald can predict success with so much confidence unless he knows that his party leaders are going to resort to the same methods they have employed for at least twenty years. Spirit of the Valley.

"Methods" are no longer necessary. Virginia is constitutionally and socially Democratic. Just as surely Republicanism as Philadelphia is surely Republicanism, and you know, brother Louis, that under Democratic rule Virginia conditions are very much better and purer than are conditions in the city of "brotherly love," under Republican rule. No, it will not do for Virginia to go Republican, let Philadelphia do as it may.

WILLARD PRACTICAL.

Makes Fine Impression on the Eastern Shore.
(Harrisburg Free Press, July 6.)
Onancock, Va., July 4.—Lieutenant Governor Joseph E. Willard in his speech at Onancock last night made an excellent impression on the voters of this town. The meeting, which was held in the town hall, was presided over by Mr. Warner Ames, who introduced the speaker. A fine audience was present, among which were a number of ladies. The speech was a practical, efficient appeal to the voters on a progressive attractive platform.

The speaker quickly caught the ear of the audience with his interesting and modern ideas advanced as to the vital issues in the development and advancement of the Virginia resources. "The writer has heard it stated repeatedly today that of the three speakers at the courthouse yesterday, Mr. Willard made the strongest and most intelligent impression, and gained the most votes."
Willard's stock is on the boom in Onancock.

MR. WILLARD AGAINST THE "JIM CROW" CAR BILL.

An inspired editorial in last Friday's "Exponent" on the subject of the Jim Crow law, seeks by innuendo and careful mis-statement to misrepresent the position taken in 1900 by Mr. Willard, when that laudable piece of legislation was enacted by the General Assembly. Concerning which, the Exponent refers to an amendment offered by Mr. Willard in committee for the temporary and local interest of the people of Fairfax and Alexandria counties and carefully avoids placing before its readers the fact that Mr. Willard not only voted for the Jim Crow bill, but did all in his power to support it and to see that it became a law, as reported by the committee on roads and international navigation, of which committee Mr. Willard was then an influential member.

Shortly before 1900, through the enterprise of a young civil engineer in Alexandria county an electric railway had been partly constructed from the Virginia shore of the Potomac opposite Washington in the direction of Fairfax C. H. The road was constructed almost exclusively by the limited capital of this young engineer, at a total cost of $15,000. Up to the year 1900, this electric road by economy and careful management extended its line, solely out of its earnings, to the edge of Fairfax county, or a distance of about seven miles. To the people of Alexandria county the little struggling road was a blessing and a God-send, and the people of Fairfax county, who were entirely without these facilities, were watching with deepest interest the snail-like extension of this road that gave hope to the people of Fairfax county.

During the pendency of this situation the Jim Crow law was launched in the Legislature. It was apparent that to compel this little struggling electric railway in Alexandria county to put on extra cars and otherwise double its equipment, would not only be requiring of it what it was an impossibility for it to do, but that even a partial attempt to comply with the law would bankrupt the road and defeat its extension through Fairfax county.

The situation was plain to the people of Alexandria and Fairfax counties, along the line of this electric road, and they lost no time in appealing to Mr. Willard to see that the proposed Jim Crow law would not apply to that locality. Mr. Willard had absolutely no personal interest in the matter. He owned not a dollar's worth of stock in the electric road or any other road in Alexandria or Fairfax counties, and does not now, and was not interested directly or indirectly in the local railways.

Mr. Willard, in response to the demand of his constituents in Fairfax county, offered in committee an amendment that would exempt this road from the operation of the Jim Crow law. The amendment was voted down in committee by a majority of one vote, and Mr. Willard, finding upon its being reported back to the House, that that body would not consider his amendment, worked for and secured, with others, the passage of the Jim Crow law which was being strenuously fought by the great railroad lobby in and out of the Legislature that roosts in Richmond during the sessions of the General Assembly, and is not now nor ever has been behind Mr. Willard in his political aspirations.

It is worthy of remark that in order to aid the aforementioned road so that it might extend its lines to Fairfax, Mr. Willard sent the road, through the citizens of Fairfax, a check for $25,000, and in return therefor has neither asked nor received any compensation whatever, not even a pass for himself or family. Mr. Willard's generosity in this instance, enabled the road to enter the village of Fairfax, thereby enormously adding to the value of the farmers' property in that locality, and conferring a lasting benefit on the citizens of that section.

DOWNWARD COURSE.

Fast Being Realized by Farmville People.

A little backache at first. Daily increasing till the back is lame and weak. Urinary disorders quickly follow; Diabetes and finally Bright's disease. This is the downward course of kidney trouble.

Don't take this course. Follow the advice of a Farmville citizen. W. H. Burger, Sr., retired butcher, who lives a mile outside of Farmville, says: "I know Doan's Kidney Pills to be an excellent remedy for backache and other kidney troubles. I was annoyed for a long time with backache, a dull aching pain down low across my back which at times became quite severe. The kidney secretions became highly colored and sediment like brick dust was visible. Doan's Kidney Pills came to my notice and I got a box at H. C. Crute's drug store. They proved very satisfactory, as they drove away my backache and cleared up the kidney secretions. I do not hesitate in recommending so valuable a remedy."

Plenty more proof like this from Farmville people. Call at H. C. Crute's drug store and ask what his customers report.

KIDNEY TROUBLES

Increasing Among Women, But Sufferers Need Not Despair. THE BEST ADVICE IS FREE.

Of all the diseases known, with which the female organism is afflicted, kidney disease is the most fatal, and statistics show that this disease is on the increase among women.

Unless early and correct treatment is applied the patient seldom survives when once the disease is fastened upon her. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most efficient treatment for kidney troubles of women, and is the only medicine especially prepared for this purpose.

When a woman is troubled with pain or weight in loins, backache, frequent painful or scalding urination, swelling of limbs or feet, swelling under the eyes, an uneasy, tired feeling in the region of the kidneys or notices a brick-dust sediment in the urine, she should lose no time in commencing treatment with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it may be the means of saving her life.

For proof, read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Sawyer. "I cannot express the terrible suffering I had to endure. A derangement of the female organs developed nervous prostration and a serious kidney trouble. The doctor attended me for a year, but I kept getting worse, until I was unable to do anything, and I made up my mind I could not live. I finally decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I had scarcely used a bottle when I felt a great relief. I cannot praise it too highly, and I tell every suffering woman about my case." Mrs. Emma Sawyer, Conway, Ga.

Bent Her Double.

"I knew no one, for four weeks, when I was sick with typhoid and kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Annie Hunter, of Pittsburg, Pa., "and when I got better, although I had one of the best doctors I could get, I was bent double, and had to rest my hands on my knees when I walked. From this terrible affliction I was rescued by Electric Bitters, which not only cured my back and strength, and now I can walk as straight as ever. They are simply wonderful." Guaranteed to cure stomach, liver and kidney disorders; at White & Co's. drug store; price 50c.
